Polyurethane offers maximum energy savings

The three layer sandwich construction provides the best possible insulation, for maximum energy efficiency.

The outstanding quality of Hörmann's polyurethane core injection results from a state-of-the-art manufacturing process that ensures a solid infill with no gaps or leaks. Unlike other manufacturers' claimed R values that refer only to their sections, the Hörmann R value of 16.1 refers to a fully installed door. The polyurethane used in the Hörmann Taurus Collection is environment-friendly and CFC-free.
